If you're ill or injured and unable to work, the chances are you will have to look elsewhere to replace your lost income.

It could be family that you turn to, it could be savings; worse still it could be that you have to rely on the government...

But, as they try to save billions from the welfare bill it's harder to get support, even when you really need it. You will be subject to endless form filling, interviews and interrogation, all for a maximum of £88.45* per week.

So with that in mind, is it time to ask; what's the alternative? Income protection can help and it's often cheaper and a lot easier than you may think.
