

► Protect your rent before you're sent packing

Whether you're leaving home for the first time or simply moving on, moving home is an exciting but stressful experience.

You can never know just how much stuff you have (and don't need) until you have to pack it into boxes.

But would you go to all that effort if you knew you'd have to pack up and start again anytime soon? Because that's just what could happen if you were unable to pay your rent as a result of ill health.

But you don't have to worry; for less than the cost of an evening at the pub you could protect your income against illness or injury and in turn protect your new found independence.
